

GATHERED WITH LOVE · EST. 2026

The Khan Family & Cookbook

recipes, memories & a little chaos in the kitchen

A COLLECTION BY

Noor & Yahya Khan

Biryani

The heart of every celebration. Layered, fragrant, and never quite the same twice. Some are Noor's, some are Yahya's, all are ours.

Hyderabadi Chicken Dum Biryani

BIRYANI

Serves a hungry family of 6 · A whole afternoon, the good kind

your hero photo goes here

WHAT YOU'LL NEED

Chicken, a good amount, bone-in is tastier

Basmati rice, enough to feel generous

Yogurt, a few big spoons

Onions, sliced thin, fried golden and sweet

Ginger & garlic, a heaping spoon, fresh ground

Green chilies to your family's bravery

A handful each of mint and coriander

Whole spices, the ones that smell like home

Saffron in warm milk, just a pinch

Ghee, don't be shy

HOW WE MAKE IT

1. Marinate the chicken in yogurt, the fried onions, ginger garlic, chilies and herbs. Let it sit and get happy, an hour at least, longer if you can wait.
2. Parboil the rice with whole spices until it is just shy of done. It should still have a little bite, it finishes later.
3. Layer it up. Chicken on the bottom, rice over the top, then the saffron milk, fried onions, herbs and ghee scattered like you mean it.
4. Seal the pot and cook on low dum until the kitchen smells unbearable in the best way. You will know.
5. Rest it before you open. Fold gently so the layers stay proud.

Amma's note: she never measured a thing, and neither do I. Taste as you go, trust your hands, and add a little extra ghee for whoever you love most.

Biryani Day

the mess, the layers, the people who showed up to eat golden onions, ^{the} meat fresh mint pile

the big reveal everyone waiting

empty plates = success

chai after, always

Breads & Bakes

Where precision pays off. Yahya runs this section, with scales, timers and a thermometer that he actually uses.

Blueberry Bran Breakfast Muffins

BREADS

Makes 12 muffins · Prep 15 min · Bake 18 min · Oven 375°F (190°C)

your hero photo goes here

INGREDIENTS